

Summer School to Inaugurate a New Social Work Dept.

Several Other New Courses Will be Included in Curriculum

Announcement of the inauguration of a new Social Work Institute to study contemporary social problems, the establishment of specialized Education teaching methods courses for secondary school instructors in conjunction with the regular academic courses, and the introduction of a new Nursery demonstration school-kindergarten course, was announced recently by Dr. Hermon L. Slobin, director of the university summer school to be held here July 1 to August 9.

Recognizing the demand made for courses in contemporary social problems, crime, rural sociology, and the home by private, public, and institutional workers of the state, the summer school will hold a three weeks Institute of Social work under the direction of the department of Sociology from July 1 to July 19 and repeated from July 22 to August 9. Formal class work will be directed by Dr. Charles W. Coulter, head of the university department of Sociology and Dr. L. A. Cramer, director of rural

Miss 1937 Contest Delegates Chosen

Ten Girls to Compete for Soph Hop Title at Dance

Who will be Miss 1937? Every sorority and girls' dormitory on campus is choosing one girl from their group as a contestant. These ten girls are sophomores and are chosen for general popularity. The decision for Miss 1937 will be made by those attending the dance. Each couple will vote on the back of their ticket for the candidate who they think deserves the title. The contestants are: Congreve Hall, Beatrice Dinsmore; Scott Hall, Marjorie Beck; Smith Hall, Ruth Kay; Alpha Chi Omega, Phyllis Gale; Alpha Xi Delta, Jane Woodbury; Chi Omega, Jacqueline Dondero; Kappa Delta, Mary Theberge; Phi Mu, Barbara Jordan; Pi Lambda Sigma, Dorothy Shanahan; Theta Upsilon, Dorothy Colman.

The dance is semi-formal, so the boys can be comfortable in regular suits, while the girls deck themselves out in their smartest evening gowns. Ken Reeves' eleven-piece orchestra has been highly recommended by all on campus who have heard him. The price of admission is only $1.65, tax included. Come to the dance and vote for Miss 1937.

STUDENTS BROADCAST FROM STATION WHEB

Inaugurating a new series of broadcasts, Ralph C. Rudd, Maurice Kidder, and Nathaniel J. Eiseman spoke over radio station WHEB, April 6, from 6:45 to 7:15 P.M.

The program consisted of musical numbers and speeches. Ralph Rudd described the program of the Student Christian Work movement. Since it was the eighteenth anniversary of the entrance of the United States in the World War, Maurice Kidder showed the danger of war in the present world situation. Nathaniel Eiseman, representing the Student Council, explained the Student Anti-War strike which takes place April 12, in the Men's gymnasium, at 11:00 A.M.

Professor Stearns Morse of Dartmouth college, chairman of Hanover branch of the American League against War and Fascism, will speak at this time. Resolutions will be passed by members of the student body.

These broadcasts will be presented from the same station, and at the same time every other Saturday throughout the term. One or two will have as subject current pending legislation. At one, there will be discussed the Annual Freshman camp to be held next fall. It is possible that the organization of the new Labor party will be explained at one of these novel broadcasts.

Dam on Oyster River Progressing Rapidly

Only Machinery and Pipes to Town Remain to be Installed

The new dam on Oyster river, which is to double the present amount of water supplied to Durham, is now one-fourth complete with work consisting of the installation of piping, pumps, and various automatic devices remaining.

The project, when finished, will be composed of an automatically operated purification plant of the rapid sand type, and a station with a pumping capacity of over 666,000 gallons a day. The water at the dam will be 17 feet deep from the surface to the bed of the river thus backing up a storage which will be more than sufficient to take care of consumption during the dry seasons. An old fire engine of the three-horse type is being used to pump water.

Most of the construction will be underground when completed so that it will be protected from cold weather and no watchmen will be needed.

Professor Anthony Zeleny, University of Minnesota (Minneapolis), biges his fellow "Z's" a break by reversing the usual seating arrangements. He puts the "A's" in the back and the "Z's" in front.

Non-Fraternity Men Hold Meeting to Organize

Tentative Constitution Presented—Plans for Intramurals Made

Plans for the participation in spring term intramural sports were discussed, a nominating committee was appointed, and a spirited discussion of plans for an active program was carried on, at an organization meeting of the non-fraternity men held in the Commons Trophy room last Tuesday night.

The tentative constitution, presented by Otto Hemn, elected chairman of the meeting, was discussed and ratified with minor changes. It is now before the Student Council for its approval.

Heading the temporary athletic committee, which will select teams for participation in intramural track meets, are Don Twyon and Kenneth Bishop. Alexander McLean and Joseph Symonovit are also on the committee.

John Conroy, director of intramurals, has promised that the non-fraternity teams will be allowed participation intramurals this spring in tennis, touch football, and swimming, while notice of the eligibility of the teams to compete in track will be forthcoming.

Another meeting of the non-fraternity men will be held next Tuesday night at 7 o'clock in the Commons Trophy room. At this time, officers of the organization will be elected if the Student Council approves the constitution as, it is expected by the leaders in the organization move, it surely will.

Pres. Lewis Soon to Get Tax Plans

Four Organizations Chosen by Student Council to Receive Support

The Student Council will present the plans for a blanket tax to President Lewis this week. At this time a request for a special convocation of the student body to consider the tax will also be made.

Four organizations have been picked by the committee in charge as being worthy of receiving the support of this assessment. Funds will, therefore, be distributed to the Granite, Student Government, Class Dues, and THE NEW HAMPSHIRE.

The approved budgets of all of these have been submitted and have met with the approval of Professor Arthur Johnson, treasurer of the Associated Student Organizations.

Plans for the collection of the tax are being considered by the administration. The amount of the tax will be made public in an early issue of THE NEW HAMPSHIRE. The total amount of the tax is less than 50% of the present total cost of these four organizations.

HART APPOINTED TO TEACH AT COLUMBIA

Herman H. Hart, '33, has recently received word that he has been appointed to teach in the Department of German of Columbia University next year, according to Clifford S. Parker, professor of Languages at the University.

Mr. Hart prepared for college at Manchester West High School. As an undergraduate, he majored in German and was graduated with the class of 1933. For the last two years he has been a graduate assistant in the Department of Languages, teaching three sections of German, 1-a, 2-b, 3-c, and following courses in French literature. Last summer he attended the Middlebury German school. He expects to receive his A.M. from the University of New Hampshire this June.

Slobin and Solt Write Textbook

Book Offering Complete Course in Calculus to be Published May 1

Two University of New Hampshire faculty members, Dr. Hermon L. Slobin, head of the department of Mathematics and Marvin L. Solt, assistant professor of mathematics have completed four years' work on a new 640-page textbook "First Course in Calculus." Publication date for the text which offers a complete course in calculus, the theory and application to all sciences, both applied and pure, will be on May 1.

Both authors are members of the Technology college staff. Dr. Slobin completed the work on the theory while studying on a leave of absence at the University of Cambridge, England, in 1932. Material in the book supplements the Slobin and Wilbur Freshman Mathematics text which has become the recognized textbook for first year work in sixty American universities and colleges. The original Freshman course text, a combination of three distinct books in one, offered problems and theory in Algebra, Trigonometry, and Analytics. A fourth book was published separately as a brief introduction to Calculus.

Designed for use in both the liberal arts and technical institutions the new text presents the elements of theory and application of calculus in two thousand exercises, divided into two classes with answers and two hundred drawings. A table of integrals sufficient to meet the needs of the course is included.

Anti-War Resolutions Will be Discussed at Convo

This morning at eleven o'clock Professor Stearns Morse of Dartmouth College, chairman of the Hanover branch of the American League against War and Fascism, will speak in the Men's Gymnasium on the problems of war and fascism.

Professor Morse's address is part of the program of the student strike against war arranged by the Student council. Participation in the strike is international in scope. Practically every well known educational institution in the United States is today participating in the strike in a general effort to crystallize student opinion against war, fascist trends and war mongering propaganda.

The Strike committee of the Student council which is handling all preparations for today's activities, expects a large audience of students, faculty, and townspeople. In an interview with a NEW HAMPSHIRE reporter, Mr. Nathaniel J. Eiseman, chairman of the Strike committee pointed out that, "due to the imminence of war in Europe the student strike is of tremendous significance. It is virtually the only method with which youth can effectively protest against a threatened catastrophe which will effect them more deeply than it will any other group."

Senator Gerald P. Nye is reported to have said, "the student strike on April 12 is not futile, as some people seem to think. A strong demonstration will have the salutary effect of convincing jingoists of the task they will have on their hands if they attempt to force the youth of this country into another war. A unified and simultaneous movement on a national scale will have a far greater effect than has ever been obtained by occasional outbursts."

MEMORIAL MEETING TO BE HELD SUNDAY EVE.

Announcement of a memorial meeting of the local McDowell Club in honor of the late Edwin Arlington Robinson, famous American poet, to be held here Sunday evening, April 14, was made here today by Miss Agnes Ryan, president of the club.

Henry Bailey Stevens, University Extension staff member and playwright, Robert W. Manton, head of the University department of music, and Miss Ryan, three members of the local club who were intimate friends of the poet Robinson while he was associated with the McDowell Club in Peterborough, will be present at the services.

WASTED HOURS

If the various success story magazines are to be believed, the absolutely first act of a man who has finally "arrived" in the modern world of business is to buy himself a motto, which he exhibits in a prominent place, and which reads variously, "Time is money," "This is my busy day," etc. Presumably a man like this has learned to value time so highly as a result of many wasted hours in his past. If this is the case, investigation might show that the heaviest purchasers of such devices are graduates of the University of New Hampshire.

A man's first taste of life on this campus is a day's delay in order that he may register. At the end of his first term he gives the school a week in which to examine him in the courses he has been studying all term. He takes ten days off, and returns to spend another day in the fascinating business of registration. He studies hard all this term, and is again examined. In ten more days he is back again, and again he goes through the rigmarole of registration. At the end of this term he is given three-hour exams on the subjects of all previous exams, with no more time to prepare for them than he was given for all the others.

He begins to wonder if all colleges make so free with their students' time, and usually when he finds out they're not he's a senior, and the only thing he can do is buy one of the above mentioned desk mottoes, and pray that he has profited by his experience. Many of you, however, have at least another year to spend here, and you have been told of a way in which you may save some of these previously wasted hours. The semester plan is the answer, and you can have it if you want it. The plan has been presented to the President, and can be helped by your support. Do something about it now!

Stuff and Nonsense

by Roy Lovely

Everyone who saw David Copperfield and didn't like it (if there are any so perverse), should stay away from Ruggles of Red Gap. It would give such a one a stroke of apoplexy to see a theatre full of people enjoying themselves so violently, and their sour pussies would be a gross affront to the artistry of the cast in the most riotous bit of buffoonery to come to the screen since Henry VIII. The only criticism one could possibly make of Ruggles is that in some spots the laughs come too quick and fast. Still, if I had had anything to do with the making of this picture I would not feel especially despondent over a reproach like that.

Incidentally, since we are on the topic of moving pictures, and have already mentioned David Copperfield—I have heard many people tell of the scenes in this picture that they thought especially fine, but no one has mentioned my favorite. For sheer poetry of motion and photography, and for masterly suspense, nothing in the picture equalled the breathless dash of Emily to the very end of the pier by the sea, with the waves pounding the timbers at her very feet, and the gulls swooping down about her head.

Having had drilled into me a deep reverence for the virtues of repetition, I wish to reemphasize the warning contained elsewhere in this paper, having to do with the fast-approaching deadline for those who intend sending writings of any sort to any of the forthcoming contests. April 15, is the date on which all such contributions must be in, and that is this coming Monday.

The most vital thing that has taken place on this campus during my short sojourn here is the strike against war by the student body. It is vital because it is concerned with a reality transcending anything else in the world: the reality of life and death. We are training ourselves to take our places in a civilization which we hope will provide us with an opportunity to serve it. How senseless a thing it would be then, to give even moral support to a war which would cost not only many of our lives, but also all hope for those who survived. Those whose energy is responsible for the successful culmination of well-laid plans for the strike have done a service to humanity, which may be shared by all who participate in it with a sincerity worthy of its high aims.

"Devastating" Davol, Durham's delightful debutante, unsullied, unsung, and unsophisticated, while doing a half gainor out of a rumble seat, tore a terrible tear in her toga. A riotous ribald rapsallion, seated in a car directly behind her, refused to turn out his headlights, which cast definite reflections on Miss Davol. (For all we know she may be there yet.)

"Jumping Bill" McLaughlin, the Hooded Marvel, met his equal on the Chi Omega mat, "Killer" Keenan taking him for three straight falls, winner take all. McLaughlin, undaunted, has asked for a return match. He said, when interviewed, "He who hesitates is lost."

"Always Buzzed" Gordon stepped out of his car the other night in front of Congreve, dove into the gutter and disappeared. Nothing has been seen of him since. Eleanor Albee, of the St. Benard eyes, (and that's no fooling, boys) accustomed as she is to picking butts out of the gut-

RECENT EVENTS

Student Anti-War Strike—

Events of the week have given evidence to believe that over 150,000 students from more than 95 colleges and universities throughout the United States will leave their classes on April 12 pledging "themselves not to support war" reports Miss Ester Zolkan of the Student Strike Committee of Greater Boston. The strike has received the support of many of the countries leading churchmen and also of Senator Nye.

Senator Nye wrote: "The war strike April 12 is not as futile as some people might think. A strong demonstration will have a salutary effect of convincing jingoist of the task they will have on their hands if they attempt to force the youth of this country into another war. A unified and sympathetic movement on a national scale will have a far greater effect than has been obtained by occasional and independent outbursts."

Work Relief Bill—

After no small amount of filibustering over a period of over two months, the work-relief bill of $4,880,000,000 has at last passed both houses of the Federal Legislature and has received the signature of the President. Allotments of $155,000,000 were made co-incident with the President's approval, $30,000,000 of which was to be used for "emergency conservation work connected with the C. C. C."

Textile Troubles—

On April 9th both branches of the State Legislature at Concord adopted a resolution requesting the President of the United States "to exercise the power he is given under the Recovery Act" to remove differentials that exist under the cotton textile code and which "lay an intolerable burden upon the industry in New Hampshire and present and insuperable obstacle to the development and even the continuation of this industry." The discrimination referred to is that of the wage scale in the southern mills being on an average of $3 per week less than that in the north. The method of changing the code was not given, but it is improbable that the wages in the south will be brought up to the northern standard, average about $13 per week, but rather that wages in New Hampshire will be reduced to the southern level.

Much is seen also concerning the textile industries drive against the processing tax, which must, according to the manufacturers, be removed to prevent wholesale bankruptcy. All this turmoil appears unnecessary in light of the fact that the statistics for the state of New Hampshire show that the textile industries received a 60% increase in profits in 1934 over those of '33.

The Peace Prayer—

Pope Pius XI, in the historic St. Peter's Basilica, led 30,000 persons in a prayer of peace on April 7, three days before the opening of the three-power conference at Stresa, Italy. German, French, British, and Italian officials were said to be present. One is curious to know if each statesman didn't pray for God to be on their side should a war occur between nations represented.

ARLISS CONVINCING AS "THE IRON DUKE"

Significant testimony to the subtle art of Mr. George Arliss, star of the Gaumont British historical drama, The Iron Duke, now the stellar attraction at the Franklin Theatre, may be found in the fact that while his interpretation of the role of Wellington clearly conveys the idea that the Duke was a stern disciplinarian, yet the hint of a temperament which brooked no opposition is given the spectators by ter, surely picked up one that was well lit that night.

"Sponge" Hanley's fame sure does spread fast and furious. The other morning in the "Emporium," the Major, absent-mindedly asked "Squire" Miller if he wanted a ride up to the gym, and our own little "Allie" said that he had a car and didn't have to beg rides. The Major owns with, "That's right, too, I was thinking of Hanley when I asked."

"Clam Flats" Stanley, the rake, was prominent in our list of unmentionables last week, and we might as well tell you the worst. You have probably all noticed of late that he has steered clear of the public spotlight, and listen girls this is the reason. He has a horrible affliction which forces him to seek the seclusion of his boudoir in the psychopathic ward of the Theta Chi Memorial Hospital. The symptoms are unmistakable, 1. Excessive twitching of the lumbar regions. 2. Drooling armpits. 3. A touch of bathroom leprosy. 4. Excessive dilation of the left eye ball. (The right one is glass.) 5. A slight swelling of the head. (Caused by adipose tissue.)

New Entertainment for Mothers' Day Pageant of May 25

Elizabeth Gale is Queen—Shirley Barker Writes Speaking Parts

Arrangements have been completed for the annual Mothers' Day festival, to be held Saturday, May 25, with Elizabeth Gale, '35, playing the leading part as queen of the pageant.

Mrs. H. Styles Bridges, first lady of the state, chosen guest of honor at a recent meeting of the women's student body, will be invited to crown the queen of the pageant.

A new site, the plot in front of Murkland hall with its natural background of evergreens, has been selected by the directors of the festival this year. In former years the pageant has been held on Memorial field.

The director will be Margaret Hoban, director of physical education for women. Miss Hoban has had much experience in directing pageants, and for the past three years has had charge of pageantry dancing, being the creator of the "Dance of the Seasons," an important part of all former pageants.

Miss Shirley Barker, author of Dark Hills Under, and well known for her poetic ability, has written the speaking parts of the festival in rhyming couplets.

Because of the definite change in the type of the pageant, much interest has been aroused. Miss Hoban, speaking before the women's convocation on Thursday, solicited the cooperation of the girls, pointing out that the pageant could not be a success without their help. She said that at least 130 persons would participate in the festival. Folk music will be used, and all music, so far as possible, will be written by New Hampshire composers.

Miss Ruth Woodruff, dean of women, will be the business manager of the pageant, Henry S. Clapp will be chairman of the grounds committee, and Irma Bowen, will be chairman of the costume committee. Other committees will be announced at a later date.

The pageant, while not essentially historical, will show the development of the different forms of play which have been common in New Hampshire. Episodes showing Indians, Puritans, early colonists, husking bees, singing schools, the gay nineties period, and people of the present age at play, will be presented.

Three leading allegorical figures to be represented will be the spirit of play, the spirit of work, and the spirit of leisure.

"Dick" Harlow Chief NH Banquet Speaker

Certificates Awarded to Letter Men in Eleven Major Sports

With Richard "Dick" Harlow, new head coach at Harvard, as the principal speaker of the evening, the annual N. H. Banquet and Certificate night, held at the Commons on Wednesday, proved to be the greatest success in the history of the affair.

Coach William H. Cowell made the certificate awards to all athletes of New Hampshire who earned their letter since the last banquet a year ago. Varsity baseball, track, rifle team, lacrosse, cross country, football, boxing, hockey, winter sports, basketball, and winter track men received the certificates handed out at the climax of the evening.

After the dinner, served by the Commons staff, Coach Cowell introduced the toastmaster, Major Donovan Swanton as the "best tap dancer ever to graduate from West Point." Major Donovan, after replying in kind to the athletic director, introduced President Lewis, who offered several anecdotes of his later baseball days.

The next speaker on the program was Myron "Mike" Palm, who was appointed as Harlow's assistant at Harvard. "Mike" was succeeded by Coach Harlow, who remarked that when he first knew "Bill" Cowell, he was known as "Butch." Coach Harlow told of several men whom he had coached during his career who had showed more than ordinary courage and sacrifice while playing for the team. He exhorted New Hampshire men who were to return to the school to carry on in this manner, and hoped that those who were leaving this year would carry some of the lessons of the athletic field along with them.

The committee in charge of the affair wish to thank the College Inn orchestra, who provided music throughout the evening. Entertainment was offered by the Portsmouth Street Singers.

Intramural Track Meet Starts Today

Running and Field Events Tomorrow P. M.—Theta Chi Still Leads

Starting with the weight events this afternoon, the annual intra-mural track meet, run in conjunction with Coach Paul Sweet's time trials, will open the spring term athletic program.

The hammer throw, the shotput, and the discus throw will be held this afternoon, while the running and field events will be held tomorrow, starting at 1:15. The first running event will begin at 2 p. m., and each event will be run on a definite schedule.

Every member of the varsity and freshman squads will be required to take part in this time trial, regardless of their participation in the intra-mural events.

Interest in the All-point trophy race is increasing as the season draws to a close. Theta Chi is still in the lead, although the Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity, winner of bowling, is close behind. The track favorites, Lambda Chi Alpha, are some distance behind, but still have a good chance for the trophy.

The train has a personnel of conductors, motormen, and flagmen, all of Portland, Maine, where the train begins its three trips to Boston each day. The "Flying Yankee" passes through Durham at 9:23 A. M. and 9:30 P. M. on its way to Boston; and 1:00 P. M. on the return trip to Portland.

It was "Old Home Week" at the gym Wednesday afternoon, with several old time N. H. diamond stars on hand for the N. H. banquet. So Coach Swasey took advantage and herded the boys down to the floor to watch his team work out.

When "Steve" Slayton, considered by many as the greatest pitcher ever to wear the Blue and White, arrived in the morning, Swasey invited him to combine business with pleasure and to give a short talk to the boys on the squad, especially the pitchers. A little later he coaxed Ralph Brackett, another great New Hampshire figure, and present coach of Portsmouth high school, to join Slayton in a brief explanation of how catching is done.

The men on the squad assembled, and after an introduction by Coach Swasey, Slayton proceeded to offer some real inside dope on pitching. He gave special attention to his "hitch," and "Deacon" Churchill decided to add it to his repertoire. Then Coach Brackett gave a bit of catching dope, and ended up by accusing Swasey of breaking the best bat that Brackett had ever had. And so began a round of baseball stories, located principally in the Vermont leagues, which finally forced Coach Swasey to retire in dismay.

"Hank," however, was not to be outdone, and he squelched the volatile Brackett with the tale of the playing days of Portsmouth's leading citizen. Brackett, it seemed, played right field when he was not catching, and the home field had a short right field, with a thick underbrush, where baseballs had a habit of disappearing with amazing frequency. After a time Brackett began to reappear more and more rapidly with the balls, and soon long drives were being held to singles. On a day off, Swasey decided to investigate. So he parked himself along the right field foul line, and sure enough, a batter drove a long hit into the bushes. Brackett chased it, reappeared suddenly, and threw the runner out at second. Swasey noticed that the ball had rolled far into the underbrush, so when the teams changed sides he hurried to the spot where Brackett had picked up the ball. Brushing aside some leaves he discovered a half dozen baseballs, hidden, but still within reach. They still call Brackett a great outfielder up that way. It was a good workout, for the coaches!

Swasey Announces Tentative Lineup

Walker, Chase, and Toll, All Sure of Starting Posts on Nine

With the first game still more than two weeks away, Coach Henry Swasey announced early this week that he has settled on a tentative lineup for that game, and is sure of three starting positions.

Fred Walker, Jerry Chase, and Art Toll are those men who are now definitely sure of being in the lineup for the first game. Walker will play at short, Chase at second, and Toll in left field.

Swasey has definitely chosen four of his six pitchers, Bill Weir, "Chip" Collins, "Deacon" Churchill, and "Mose" Saliba. He will pick two more from the remainder of the candidates.

At present Swasey is planning to use Arnie Rogean, football and basketball letterman, at first base, if he can field up to the standard of his early season hitting. He has the edge over Ed Currier. The third base job is the source of a three-cornered battle between Joslin, veteran from last year, Grocott, a converted second baseman, and Landry, a shortstop who has been moved over to the hot corner.

In addition to Toll, it appears now that "Mike" Mirey, sophomore, and Herb Currier, hold over from last year's team, will start the season, but there are several other candidates to be heard from.

If weather conditions are not too bad, Coach Swasey hopes to work out in Dover today.

Rifle Competition Won by Bullfinch

Second and Third Places Awarded to Leocha and Bennett

Kent R. Bullfinch took first place in the Freshman Rifle Competition, held last Thursday and Friday, with his score of 97 out of a possible 100. The second place was tied for by Adolf Leocha and Adelman Bennett, with a score of 95 each, both having the same number of 10's, 9's and 8's.

In order to break the second place tie, Leocha and Bennett fired again on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Leocha scored a 47 on Tuesday and was awarded second place, because Bennett, who fired Wednesday, had only a high score of 45, which gave him the third position.

The awards for the first three places were: first place, a gold medal; second place, a sterling silver medal; and third place, a bronze medal.

Registration for the competition was not as large as was expected by Captain Jordan. Fifty-five freshmen signed up for the meet.
